

(英語)

水、電気、ガスなどが止まっています

When water, electricity and gas services have been suspended

When a disaster occurs, water, electricity and gas supplies are often suspended.

It might take a long time to restore them, but the people concerned are doing their utmost to return the utility supplies as quickly as possible.

In this situation, you should go to a shelter where water and meals are provided.