すぐに帰国するのは難しいです

When it's difficult to return to your country immediately

It may be the case that even though you want to return to your country, the traffic network is paralyzed, which makes it difficult to go back to your country immediately. In that situation, you should wait and see if you can arrange your return journey a little later. You may also be worried about your passport, period of stay, re-entry permit and so on, but there is no need for concern, as you will not be forced to leave. Please wait for further information on what to do.
