

(英語)

交通がマヒしています

When the transportation network is paralyzed

This is when the roads are closed and rail services are not operating. In this case, it's difficult to travel to another region; so it's recommended to go to the nearest evacuation shelter.

The roads and trains start operating again gradually, so please stay calm. Announcements will be made when the transportation network is operational again.