

2 Birth notification (birth registration) and acquisition of nationality

2-3 About recognition

Recognition, or ninchi, is an act of establishing a legal parent-child relation between a child born to unmarried parents and his/her father. A father wishing to recognize a child must make certain procedures at a municipal administrative office pursuant to the family registration law. For details please enquire at your local municipal administrative office.